TRANSITION TO WORK FOR EMPLOYERS

Transition to Work helps young people into work and supports employers to hire and keep young people in jobs.

What is Transition to Work?

Transition to Work helps young people aged 15 -24 years develop the skills, behaviours and attitudes employers are looking for. Young people receive intensive individual support to improve their work readiness and can access a range of services including training, work experience, apprenticeships, and traineeships.

Benefits for Employers

Real Futures your Transition to Work provider will work closely with you to find the right person for your business. Real Futures consultants will make sure the young person meets your needs and receives pre-employment skills and training relevant to your business needs.

When you hire a young person, you and your new employee will get ongoing post placement support from your transition to work provider, who will stay in regular contact to ensure the young person is settling into the role and meeting your expectations.

You may be able to receive a wage subsidy of $10,000 when you employ a young person.

This will help to cover hiring costs or training expenses. Your Transition to Work provider can help you claim the wage subsidy.

Services for young people

Transition to Work helps young people understand and develop the skills, attitudes and behaviours employers expect in the workplace including:

- developing practical skills to get a job
- connecting with education or training
- work experience placements
- identifying employment opportunities in the local area
- connecting with relevant local community services.
